Copy Date for next issue: 1st May 2026 for next EMEWS. Contributions are always welcome but especially by e-mail (mikegardvo@sky.com). I will then get the next edition out in mid May 2026.

Cover - Thanks again to Ernie for the cover Ernie commented "I have tried to make the cover appropriate to the number 300 which for both of us as long-standing Editor and cover designer, the Association and, of course, all of our devoted readers is quite a milestone, and not forgetting those who diligently search through the cover of every issue of EMEWS for the hidden away 'signature' of the designer, at times just initials, at others a full name - I guarantee that there is always one in each cover somewhere, and sometimes two!. Out of curiosity, I checked via 'DuckDuckGo' to discover that the average lifespan of an Emu in the wild is about 20 years but, in captivity, they are likely to live longer, so the two chatting in the foreground must be reasonably recent arrivals, so here's hoping that both they and EMEWS will have quite a life to live yet in the years to come!"

- DVO/25/1 - Club Development Officer new role - details still under discussion with DVO.

Club-funded development projects

- DVO/26/1 MapRuns 2026/27. DVO plan to hold 16 evening MapRun events in 2026/27 including a block of events in the Chesterfield area, with the aim of attracting new participants from running and other sporting clubs, and will be applying for a Sport England grant
- DVO/26/2 Fun and memorable level D events 2026. This will be a series of 4 events in 6 weeks with prizes and other incentives in line with BO "Changing Perceptions" initiatives.
- DVO 26/3 Another Navigation festival for newcomers at Hardwick on 11/7/2026 in partnership with the National Trust.
- NOC/26/1 NOC will be holding an updated MapActive course comprising 3 sessions.

John Hurley has been attending some of the sessions on the British Orienteering Development Conference and will hopefully provide a recap on them for the proposed regional development day in September (along with a planning course for new officials). For those wanting to see some of the sessions they are available at Development Conferences (including links to previously recorded sessions).

Coaching - Hilary Palmer reported that as part of the Development Conference there will be a session on 9th February on the Orienteering Instructor Qualification for Clubs. This will be a new qualification which will take a full day and a half day face to face sessions along with some e-learning. There is a continuous assessment element. The instructor is then able to lead sessions up to Orange standard (lead beginner sessions or sessions for newcomer improvers), so it is not a full coach qualification. Hilary would be happy to tutor a pilot course in our region (and has had some discussions with DVO on this already). She would need an indoor venue close to (ideally on) a mapped area. Andy Nichols confirmed we did have funding in our budget for coaching qualifications.

Hilary is also looking to deliver some small coaching sessions in NOC. They have found that new members often find it difficult to progress in orienteering, so she has made a start on providing some coaching sessions which constitute a number of short loops focusing on things like pacing, compass use and route planning. The idea is that they should provide fun and be sociable for the new members and help to keep them in the sport.

EMJOS - See report below.

Fixtures - The League and Urban League fixtures are covered separately in EMEWS.

- Future Major Events

- a. 15 Feb 2026 - East Midland Champs - DVO - Longshaw
- b. 10 Oct 2026 - British Schools Score Champs - DVO - Shipley Park
- c. 7 Feb 2027 - CompassSport Cup Heat - DVO - Stanton Moor (tbc)

d. 5 Feb 2028 - British Night Champs - LEI - Irchester / Cademan

e. 6 Feb 2028 - Midland Champs - LEI - Cademan / Belvoir

- Future Possible Events

a. EMOA Champs 2027 (NOC scheduled to host)

b. EMOA Champs 2028 (LOG scheduled to host)

c. VHI 2028 - Ant Squire is looking at how this can be achieved. DVO may be able to support.

d. EMOA Champs 2029 (LEI scheduled to host)

e. CompassSport Cup heat 2029 (LEI or LOG scheduled to host)

f. JIRCS 2030

g. EMOA Champs 2030

h. Midland Champs 2031 (EMOA scheduled to host)

Next Meeting - The next EMOA Committee meeting will be via zoom on April 27th 2026. If anyone wants to attend the zoom call then please contact the secretary.

EMEWS 300

EMEWS no 1 (or at least equivalent) was published in March 1971 (so just under 55 years ago) and edited by Sylvia Warburton. I thought one of the interesting comments in the newsletter was "With the relatively few orienteers in the regions who were willing and able to organise events kept busy by major events. It is hoped to remedy this in the current year and the following dates have been provisionally booked 9th May; 26th June; 12th September; and another in October". So there were not many events across the East Midlands in those days.

Since then the following are those who have been editors of EMEWS: Sylvia Warburton (1 -19); Deborah Wilkinson (20 - 40); Graham Masters (41 - 50); Stuart Collins (51 - 64); Mike Gardner (65 - 89); Dave Nevell (90 - 104); Mike Hughes (105 - 117); Roger Hawkins (118 - 130); Mike & Liz Godfree (131 - 163); Dai & Karen Bedwell (164 - 180); John Cooke (181 - 185) and Mike Gardner again (186 onwards). So, this is my 139th edition of EMEWS!

EMEWS 100 was edited by Dave Nevell and came out in early 1987. EMEWS 200 was edited by myself and came out in June 2004.

The first cover drawn by Ernie Williams was EMEWS 75 (see illustration to the left) (he had seen how awful my attempted covers had been and volunteered to assist). Since then, Ernie has drawn the cover for almost every edition, so well over 200 covers!

EMEWS

Here are a few more of Ernie's covers from across the years:

But, has orienteering changed over the years? If we go back to EMEWS 16 (October 1972) Jenny Tennant wrote an article "What to do when you get lost". I think most of this still applies (even after 50 years).

a) Possible reasons for getting lost

- Going too fast to No. 1 - before "getting" into the map safely.
- "Speed in excess of capacity will make the brain numb and lazy" - C. Schanning. And "speed" is a relative term and applies to everyone. When tired errors are more easily made and are harder to rectify.
- Other people: I may - abandon a route choice for no good reason.
  - I may - be caught up and pressurised into going too fast.
  - I may - be elated at catching up someone else and become careless.
- Over reliance on the compass - failing to keep an eye on the map, nor checking distance. Failure to stick on a bearing or sticking on it too long - or dare I say it - reversing the bearing - all end up in completely the wrong place.

b) Recognition of the fact

- The moment of truth dawns that all is not well - STOP. Maybe you are running into the sun and sweat is dripping off your face before you realise that it should be in your back - or that you're coasting fast downhill when you thought you were going to have to struggle up, or fields lie ahead where there should be a forest. The earlier you recognise your mistake the better - a good orienteer may recognise it when it is still in the planning stage and has not yet been put into action. So - STOP - and if you're the sort of person who is likely to run wide-eyed in circles - and there are people who do - sit down.

c) Appraising the situation

- Orientate the map: acknowledge that you don't know where you are and keep an open mind for the moment. So often we try to bend the map and/or terrain to fit where we think we are.
- Recall:
  - Where you last knew for sure where you were. Estimate roughly how long ago this was, one minute, five. Perhaps ten if you are moving slowly through rough and featureless terrain.

- ii. Whether you came on a bearing or not. Did you reverse it? This is easy to correct but there is no short cut - backtrack to where you took the bearing.
- iii. Knowing where you have come from and how long ago, will at least show you in what section of the map you are - and unless it is very thick you will probably know the direction you've arrived from on the ground. (Here you can see the importance of stopping and not allowing yourself to wander in circles).
- c. Check the map - if you know you are in a particular area of it - for any feature that is peculiar to that area i.e. lake, tarn, quarry, power line, etc. and then if you come across that feature while checking other points you can assume where you are.
- d. Look about you - for any feature the mapper would have put in: slope of ground, its direction and steepness, vegetation change (perhaps), stream, ditch, ridge, distant glimpse of high ground.
- e. Action - Knowing approximately where you are is not good enough. Make for a large and obvious feature - in this country one can nearly always pick up a line feature - it may mean climbing, it may mean travelling out of your way. Having reached a line feature, pinpoint your position on it. This is not always easy in a featureless coniferous forest where every ride crossing appears the same and all tracks run in a regular pattern; the contours may help, a stream providing a re-entrant with its dip in the road, or by moving to a ride junction another vista will show the lie of the land. (In Scandinavia it is much more difficult: there may be no gathering feature for miles. Little marshes repeat themselves again and again; hummocks and hillocks all look alike, and the forest goes on forever, On one lonely occasion I resorted to climbing a bump to get a view - I glimpsed competitors in the distance and found I'd left the map!)
- f. Having related yourself to the map - put the experience gained behind you. Do not try too madly to make up lost time - go steadily, ignore other people and keep in touch with the map at all times. Remember, you've gone further and worked much harder than the winner, so stop and make decisions carefully and you'll be surprised how quickly the controls and the finish come round.

d) No? Still lost?

- a. Check the time: the organisers will have put a closing time for the course by which you must report to the Finish. Use your common sense, if you have already been out a couple of hours you may have to make straight for the Finish.
- b. Plan your route to the Finish by following a line feature until you hit a substantial path or track, where the going is easy: and travel in the approximate direction of the Finish. Ask any competitor you see to show you where you are on the map - orienteers are sympathetic to anyone in genuine difficulty.
- c. If you are still lost at dusk remain on a path at a path junction so that you can see if possible in two directions. Use your whistle if you see or hear anyone collecting controls or looking for you.

- e) Remember the golden rule of orienteering - you must report to the Finish whether you complete the course or not - if you do not report then someone will be out to look for you.

When lost:- STOP, appraise the situation - then act.

EMJOS go to South Wales 2025

EMJOS went to the South Wales Orienteering Foundation/Swansea Bay weekend of races and training (7th to 9th November 2025). Our squad of 11 juniors joined four other squads using the long weekend for some technical training and quality races in the south rather than go to the equivalent weekend in the Lake District.

The bright autumn Saturday was training on the sand dunes of Merthyr Mawr - plenty of control sites put out by the SBOC team, meant that the squads had lots to choose from to practice sand dune map interpretation, planning a route with beacons to simplify and speed up the leg navigation, on an accurate compass bearing.

With a change over at lunch time to the area used by the individuals on the Orienteering Foundation coaching day, meant a fresh new set of maps for a shorter afternoon session. We were saving our energy for the race finale - The Big Dipper - a race up and down a very, very large sand dune (Strava segment)!

We joined forces with West Midlands Squad and shared the workload of preparing the training exercises and coaching resources. Which worked well as both squads had a range of abilities, so pairing up exercises forged new friendships with runners from another region.

As the sun set on Saturday, the EMJOS juniors piled into the minibus and headed straight off to the night score event at Briton Ferry Woods. Not everyone had been night orienteering before so novices were paired up and the torches checked before heading off into the woods. The first 9 controls were on the paths, so everyone collected points and challenged themselves to venture off the paths to find a few more. What the coaches did not bank on was the adjacent firework display having a few stray rockets fly over the woods! But it made for a lively chat at the end. Everyone returned under the 60 minutes so no time penalties and there was a great buzz as we headed home for our well earned supper.

After a night in the Boys & Girls Club of Wales activity centre Bridgend, we headed off to the competition on Kenfig Burrows - which some of the juniors recognised as the intricate sand dunes used for the JIRCS in 2023! With their heads full of the previous day's training there were some solid good runs - showing just how much improved their navigation was in this type of sand dune terrain. And this event was for Josh his last outing with the EMJOS squad as a junior (happy running Josh!).

In the Juniors' own words, written in the back of the minibus on the way home:

Jessica- "I thought doing the relocation exercise with Grace went well as we had to try and remember what the other had done. My race course went well (Sunday) as we had practiced looking at the shapes of the hills and depressions on the training day."

Imogen - "My Sunday race controls 2 to 6 went very well as we had practiced looking at the shapes of the land and map contours."

Isobel - "I enjoyed The Big Dipper and the relocation course as this built my confidence and was fun."

Grace - "I enjoyed the night event and the Orange course at Kenfig Burrows as it was my first solo night event and the Orange had a good layout."

Aidan - "I enjoyed the relocation and contact exercises on the sand dunes. I enjoyed using the land shapes on the relocation exercise."

Ben - "I liked the night score which helped me with my compass work. And the training day exercises were good because it helped my running down steep slopes."

Josh - "I enjoyed the No Compass training activities. I also enjoyed revisiting an old JIRCS area Kenfig Burrows on Sunday."

Bodie - "I enjoyed the night event as it was something different especially as it was a score event. Learning to use the flat bits of land to navigate as well as the hilly bits (lots of contours).

Michael - "I enjoyed the night event because it was my first one ever and I learned a lot from it. Learning to use contours to know where I am on the map."

Eoin - "Enjoyed the night event as I did it quite socially and enjoyed having beds for a weekend away."

Hugh - "I really enjoyed training in the dunes yesterday because it was only my second time in really wobbly terrain. The night event was my first time doing a score event and also my first night race in a long time."

EMJOS November 2025 to January 2026

JROS Camps

Thank you to Andy Simpson for taking 2 EMJOS juniors to the Hawkshead weekend (M/W15/16) at the end of November (Eoin and Isabele). The weather was kinder this year (no snow & ice) and the fun aspect was still very high and important. With 3 classic Lakeland areas for training - Tarn Howes, Great Tower and Haverthwaite, the variety and quality of the training was superb.

Training events

Hartshill Hayes 13th December 2025

We joined the West Midlands squad for their Christmas training session. Three juniors from EMJOS (Ben Jessica and Bodie) were coached by 3 coaches, Dai, Karen and Matt. They practiced planning and then executing the route through terrain. But the coaching day was also an opportunity to meet friends in the other clubs.

Future Training

31st of January 2026 EMJOS are hosting training on Cromford Moor (DVO) for Yorkshire and Humberside and West Midlands squads - so there will be 60 juniors going mad on the slopes of the Derwent valley. The planning of the exercises by Andy, has been very challenging given the steep terrain and restrictions of fence crossing and bramble under growth.

Dates in March/April are also being finalised to work with WMJS to train on the areas near Cannock Chase and further west.

Early notice of the Orienteering Foundation November 2026 training - NGOC weekend 21st/22nd Nov to be held in the Forest of Dean; with night and regional events also planned.

Other things to note:

The review of safeguarding requirements for coaches and helping parents associated with EMJOS is still under way. For some it may require taking the 1 hour e-Learning course or the 3 hour computer based training.

M&W16 Hawkshead training camp

After a long drive, Toni, Andy, Eoin, and I arrived in Hawkshead, for an amazing weekend of training in the Lake District and making lovely new friends.

On the first day, in the morning, we went to Tarn Hows. Toni and I did a course where she taught me to use the map and contour features to visualise the landscape. That was really helpful as by the end of the weekend thanks to her guidance I was able to picture where the controls were going to be. After another course on my own and doing a 'trains' exercise - which gave me the opportunity to run on Lake District orienteering terrain, we went moved to Tower Wood.

There was a sprint night event that evening on the grounds of the youth hostel but having competed in a school cross-country event on the Friday I decided to watch instead. It looked like great fun though so I definitely would like to try it next year.

On the final day, we went to Haverthwaite Heights where I did a line course with Toni, which reinforced and furthered my new skills to understand and follow the contours. Afterwards I did a re-entrants course with two girls from the Irish squad (East Midlands had paired up with the Irish squad for the weekend). Later to finish a fabulous weekend of training on new terrain, we did a clock relay, which was lots of fun; Marcus and I finished 3rd.

Thank you to all the coaches for an excellent weekend, especial Toni and Andy.

Quid Games: Storm the Castle

This November I ran Quid Games II: Storm the Castle in Kendal, an event in partnership between British Orienteering and Sportsshoes. It was part race, part festival showpiece in the format of a 60-minute night score event with tactical controls, big-brand prizes, and a buzzing crowd atmosphere. I was racing for the GBR team and had been sponsored to attend. The concept was to open the sport to a new audience, get big brands involved and spotlight the sport in an exciting way.

---

I arrived as dusk settled over Kendal, and the start area already hummed with energy. The event was billed as Storm the Castle, a follow-up to the original Quid Games last winter, and the green lights striking across the castle hinted we were in for a treat.

Organisers leaned into partnerships to give the event scale and polish. The collaboration between SportsShoes and British Orienteering, supported by brands like ASICS, Silva, Garmin, Maurten and Red Bull, meant there were real prizes and brand activations at play, which added an extra layer of competitiveness and fun. Prizes ranged from new watches, headtorches, sunglasses, and sport nutrition.

With big prizes on the line every decision felt amplified - do I sprint to a high-value control across town and go all-in, or go for consistency across the whole course and aim for the bigger overall prizes?

On the ground, the course was an urban event with ~25% on grass. It explored hidden corners of Kendal, opening locations I'd never seen used for orienteering before (like passages through a brewery and up artificial ski-slopes). The event attracted a large field—around 175 competitors - so the start was lively, and the controls felt contested. What surprised me most was the atmosphere. This wasn't the quiet, solitary navigation we expect at an event; there was a live DJ at 'basecamp' and out on the course. This proved to be a slight give away to control location but, on the whole, navigation was rather easy - maybe light green standard.

I chose a tactical route aiming for specific controls that paid off with a handful of high-value prizes (50 Maurten energy gels, a pair of Sungod sunglasses). I also benefitted from my many years of final control sprint finishes (and CSC golden boots!) to bag myself a free pair of ASICS trail shoes.

Overall, the event was a great success and so much fun! It's lovely to hear how excited newcomers and first-timers were at the finish line. There are plans for further events in this series and I would recommend them for an evening of orienteering with a real difference!

Harlaxton

In February, LOG have an event at Harlaxton, so again thought it would be useful for folk to know some background to the area.

The manor at Harlaxton was commissioned by Gregory Gregory in 1831 from the architect Anthony Salvin. The manor was built to reflect his personal tastes and incorporates a myriad of styles and designs he had picked up during his European travels.

The formal gardens at Harlaxton Manor were created as an integral feature of the stately home. In the context of the times, surrounding garden spaces and features provided recreation, a connection to nature, possibilities for social interaction, and an appreciation of moods set by varying types of contrived and natural outdoor spaces. More than 160 years later, the essential purpose of the Gardens remains unchanged. Highlights of the Gardens include French-style terraces, an Italian Garden, a Dutch ornamental canal, and English landscape walks. The Conservatory is virtually unique in design and use of architectural elements. The 6.5 acre walled garden is one of the largest in Britain.

Gregory Williams (his birth name) was born in 1786, the only son of Olivia Preston of Flasby Hall in Yorkshire and soldier William Gregory Williams. He didn't adopt the name Gregory Gregory until he inherited the estate from his Uncle, George de Ligne Gregory, in 1822. Aged 11 in 1797, he gained entrance to Rugby School in Warwickshire and in 1805 at the age of 19 he attended Christ Church College, Oxford as a commoner or ordinary fee-paying student. Gregory studied the Classics, Greek philosophy and Mathematics, but left in 1807 without taking a degree. This was customary at the time for those destined to run family estates or family businesses.

How the young Gregory Williams employed himself before inheriting his estates is not known with any degree of certainty. What is known is that he received a commission as a Major in the second or Southwell Regiment of Local Militia in 1809 and was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel in 1813.

By 1822 he had inherited estates from both his father and his uncle's legacies and took the Gregory name as his surname. His uncle, George de Ligne Gregory (1740-1822), estate included property in Nottingham, Lenton, Radford and Denton as well as holdings in various canal and railway companies and some profitable coal mines. Whilst his father's estate included a smaller property at Denton and land at Rempstone.

In 1823 Gregory Gregory of Rempstone (the only known image believed to be him is the image on left at top of cedar stairs in Harlaxton) is listed as a Fellow of the Royal Horticultural Society - something that must have influenced his approach to the gardens at Harlaxton Manor. In 1825, still based at Rempstone, he acted as Sheriff of Nottinghamshire, as many of his ancestors had done before him. Shortly after Gregory let out Rempstone Hall to Mr Smith Wright of the Nottingham banking family, and he moved to Hungerton Hall. An 1829 Directory lists him as living at Hungerton Hall and in 1831 he can be found as a Fellow of the Zoological Society of London.

In the 1820s, Gregory Gregory is said to have been attached to various British embassies overseas during which time he amassed a collection of statuary, furniture, tapestries, books, silver plate, and artwork which later became known as the 'Gregory Heirlooms.' He also sold some of his land with a view to building a mansion in Lincolnshire to resemble a palace.

Gregory Gregory, a bachelor, died in 1854 of gout complications and according to a funeral notice in The Times, was buried in the family vault in Harlaxton Church. He left a substantial gift in his will to his "confidential servant" Samuel Baguley. Samuel was named prior to anyone else, indicating an unusual level of importance for a butler.

The house was inherited by his cousin, George Gregory, a man Gregory apparently despised.

The manor continued to be passed through the family until 1937, when it was purchased by entrepreneur and social campaigner, Violet Van der Elst. After Violet, the manor was passed on to the Society of Jesus, who eventually leased the property to Stanford University.

In 1970, Dr. Wallace Graves sub-leased the manor for the University of Evansville and it was then purchased in 1978 by Dr. William Ridgway. Dr. Ridgway officially transferred ownership of the manor to the University of Evansville in 1986.

EMEWS

This fixture list is intended to list all major events in the UK, and all East Midlands events. It includes all the information available to me about the event at the time of going to press. Details on entry are normally available on the club sites. Unless otherwise stated, Local events offer entry on the day (EOD) to a range of colour coded courses with start times from 10:30 to 12:30. Some will provide a wider range of courses than others. Regional events provide colour coded within which age classes can be run. National events provide a range of age-related courses and are normally entered in advance.

The OS map reference is either the car park or point from which the event will be signposted. The list is based on BOF registration, but events are sometimes cancelled. If you are uncertain of whether an event will be on, check with the organiser. The editor takes no responsibility for wasted journeys.

Many events are pre-entry only, so please check the event details before travelling.
